FIRST DAY OF SULZER TRIAL

BELIEVE THAT PRIEST STOLE PAPERS TO PUT HIM IN HOLY ORDERS

Acting on information the source of which he refuses to divulge, Inspector Faurot is looking into the theory that Hans Schmidt, the murderer of Anna Aumuller, Jekyll-Hyde priest, fake doctor and admitted counterfeiter, is not the Hans Schmidt of Aschaffenburg, Germany, but an impostor. The Inspector has been informed that the real Schmidt probably is dead; that the man in the Tombs knew him and used such papers as Schmidt had in order to get into the Catholic priesthood for the purpose of cloaking, behind clerical activities, his criminal operations.

"There is no certainty that this fellow is the real Schmidt," said the Inspector today. "My information that he is not comes from a source that warrants me in making an investigation. Schmidt is a natural forger and could easily have fixed up the clerical credentials through which he obtained positions in St. Boniface's Church and St. Joseph's Church."

KOELBE TO MAKE THE DEFENSE ONE OF INSANITY.

Alphonse Koelbe, counsel for Schmidt, is laying the groundwork for an insanity defense. He will ask the District Attorney to appoint a commission to examine the prisoner and report on his mental state. Koelbe says he is certain that any commission will declare Schmidt insane and not a fit subject for trial.

Koelbe is not sure that his client is the real Hans Schmidt. The prisoner, however, insists that he is the man who was ordained a priest in Mainz in 1867. "I asked him to-day," said Koelbe, "if he wouldn't tell me the truth about himself. I told him that many thousands of Catholics were deeply distressed about his standing, including those who had confessed to him and received the sacraments at his hands in St. Joseph's Church, and suggested that he might clear up this distress by confession if he was an impostor. He told me he was Hans Schmidt, the priest."

COURT REFUSED MURET A DEMONSTRATION.

"Dr. Ernest Muret, Schmidt's partner in the counterfeiting plan, which was conducted at No. 216 West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, was arraigned in the Court of Special Sessions before Justices McInerney, Keefe and Collins today on a charge of having a loaded revolver in his possession in violation of law. Muret made a startling proposition to the court.

"That weapon," he said, referring to the revolver, which is of 22 calibre and can be hidden in the palm of the hand, "is harmless. I'd be willing to let anybody shoot at me with it and thus demonstrate that it is incapable of inflicting injury."

"There will be no demonstration of that sort," said Justice Collins. "The court holds that it is a deadly weapon."

Muret admitted owning the pistol. He said he bought it nine years ago in Germany. It is an ingenious little weapon. One armed with it could approach another without exciting suspicion. The pistol is so shaped that when it is held in the palm of the hand the muzzle protrudes between the first and second fingers, while the third finger is in the natural position to pull the trigger.

There were four loaded cartridges and two discharged cartridges in the revolver. Muret said he had tried at various times to discharge the weapon and had not succeeded, but he could not account for the two empty chambers. He was remanded to the Tombs until Oct. 2 for sentence, but before that time he will have been turned over to the custody of the Federal authorities on the charge of counterfeiting.

HAD 100 COPPER PLATES MADE FOR HIS USE.

A. G. Hoyer, a dealer in photographic supplies and engravers' materials at No. 128 West Thirtieth street, reported that both Schmidt and Muret have visited his place several times during the summer, bought photographic

REDFORD PARK, CINCINNATI.
Sept. 18.—The Dodgers and Reds clashed today on a field heavy in mud. Two games were scheduled, but the groundkeeper could not get the diamond ready in time for a double header.

FIRST INNING—Ames threw out Moran and Cutshaw. Stengel singled and stole second. Wheat sailed to Bescher. No Runs.

Bescher's left field safe in a crowd of outfielders. Bates sacrificed, Smith to Daubert. Groh grounded to Smith. Smith thinking Smith would throw to first stood still and baffled. Smith turned and tagged Bescher. Bescher seemed laughing. Groh stole second, but Wickland hit only microbes. No Runs.

SECOND INNING—Daubert two-bled feverishly. Smith sacrificed, Ames to Hoblitzel. R. Fisher bunted to Groh. Daubert fell in the mud and they brushed him with the ball. Groh-Kling-Dodge. W. Fisher walked. Hummel batted for Rucker, who said he couldn't stand in the mud. The human camel forced W. Fisher, Groh-Tinker. No Runs.

Ragon pitched for Brooklyn. Hoyer batted for Stengel. Tinker got a hit, Smith being tagged three feet from the ball. Dodge fouled to Daubert. Tinker pitched, W. Fisher to Cutshaw. No Runs.

THIRD INNING—Moran walked. Cutshaw sacrificed, Ames to Hoyer. Four balls for Stengel. Wickland sacrificed. Bates batted. Tinker. No Runs.

Kling sailed to Stengel. Few men can be as graceful as a back. Cutshaw fouled Bescher's mound and got a hit. Tinker walked. W. Fisher's engine a little later. No Runs.

FOURTH INNING—Smith hit with a double. Hoyer and the mud hummed. R. Fisher's mound. W. Fisher flew to Bescher, who drove it home, but Kling applied it. Cut Shaw's engine. Hoyer sacrificed with a single. Bates grounded to Dodge. Tinker pitched. A. G. Hoyer's engine a little later. No Runs.

PRINCESS A SUICIDE WHEN HER FATHER OPPOSES MARRIAGE

Sophia of Saxe-Weimar, Unable to Wed Man She Loved, Shoots Herself.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Sept. 18.—Princess Sophia of Saxe-Weimar committed suicide by shooting herself with a revolver during last night. She was found dead this morning in her room in the palace of her father, Prince William.

It was first reported that the cause of the death of the Princess was heart disease. She was twenty-five years old, having been born on July 25, 1888.

Princess Sophia was reported some months ago to have become engaged to marry Hans Von Bleichroeder, a member of the powerful Berlin banking family. Her father, however, denied the report at the time.

The Princess and Von Bleichroeder were recently seen together, and it was persistently rumored that they had become engaged to be married in spite of Prince William's energetic denial.

Prince William was said to have bitterly opposed his daughter's marriage to the banker.

The Princess's full name was Sophia Augustine Ida Caroline Pauline Agnes Elizabeth Ernestine.

SUMMARY.
Base Hits—Off Russell, 4 in 4 innings; off Walsh, 1 in 4 innings. First Base on Balls—Off McHale, 2; off Russell, 3; off Walsh, 1. Struck Out—By Russell, 1; by Walsh, 1. Two-base hits—Weaver, Maisei, Peckinpough, Chappelle. Sacrifice hits—Chase, Gilhooley. Stolen bases—Weaver, Maisei, Gilhooley, Peckinpough. Double plays—Berger to Weaver to Chase; McHale to Zelder to Williams; Lord to White. Umpires—Connolly and O'Loughlin. Attendance—2,000.

POLO GROUNDS, Sept. 18.—Threatening weather to-day kept the crowd down to 1,000 in the third game between the White Sox and the Highlanders. Biddle was back at his old station in left and Zelder again took Knight's place at second.

McHale was the pitcher for New York and was opposed by Lefty Russell.

FIRST INNING—Weaver led off with a double to left center. Williams made a great one-handed stop of Lord's hot smash and put him in a race to the bag. Weaver taking third on the play. Zelder tossed out Collins after seeing that Weaver stuck to third. Weaver made a clean single into left. Peckinpough threw out Bodie. One Run. One Left.

Maisei doubled to right and took third when Collins' throw in his hit him in the back. Holden singled to right, scoring Maisei. Cree grounded to Chase, who threw to Weaver, forcing out Holden. Williams hit into a double play, Berger to Weaver to Chase. One Run.

SECOND INNING—Chappelle filed out to Gilhooley. Easterly filed out to Holden in deep center. Peckinpough threw out Berger. No Runs.

Zelder filed out to Collins. Gilhooley splashed in front of the plate and was thrown out by Easterly. Peckinpough lined a double into left. Lord threw out Gossett. No Runs. One Left.

THIRD INNING—Russell lifted a high fly to Gilhooley in right center. Weaver singled to right. Lord hit into a double play, McHale to Zelder to Williams. No Runs.

Russell tossed out McHale. Maisei was given a life on Russell's high throw to Chase. Collins made a fine running catch of Holden's long fly in deep right. Maisei made a clean single of second. Cree struck out. No Runs. One Left.

FOURTH INNING—Collins walked. Chase laid down a sacrifice bunt and went out. Maisei to Williams. Collins taking second. Gilhooley ran in and caught Bodie's fly in short right. Chappelle doubled to right, scoring Collins. Easterly tagged in front of the plate and was thrown out by Gossett. One Run. One Left.

Williams walked. Zelder was safe on a bunt. No Runs.

From Man Jack Coombs was discharged from the hospital today, but it is now certain that Coombs will not be able to take part in the world's series. His spine is troubling him as a result of the attack of typhoid fever suffered earlier in the year and the veteran pitcher is in a plaster cast.

SULZER BEGINS FIGHT IN IMPEACHMENT CASE BY CHALLENGING COURT

Governor Makes No Formal Appearance and His Counsel Questions Right of Accusing Senators to Act as Judges.

JUDGE CULLEN BRUSHES FIRST QUIBBLES ASIDE.

By Samuel M. Williams.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Gov. Sulzer and his counsel refuse to recognize, as it is now constituted, the jurisdiction of the Court of Impeachment, which began to-day his trial for high crimes and misdemeanors. The Governor did not appear when summoned to the bar. But this action does not imply contempt or unusual proceeding. It is not necessary for Mr. Sulzer to attend during these preliminary stages. President Andrew Johnson followed the same course at his impeachment trial.

It was the attitude of Gov. Sulzer's counsel rather than the failure of the respondent to attend that emphasized most strongly the line of resistance. In the formal document of appearance filed by Counsel Herckrick for the Governor, they say:

"The undersigned appear especially for the respondent for the purpose of raising certain questions relative to the organization of the court and as to its jurisdiction over the respondent."

This was signed by all the Governor's lawyers. After the Rules Committee reports to-morrow the battle of legal technicalities will be started by Sulzer's counsel on various points. They will challenge the right of Senators Frawley, Wagner, Ramsperger and Sanner, who were active in the investigation of Sulzer and the formulation of charges, to sit as judges. They will deny the jurisdiction of the entire court.

The Board of Managers will answer vigorously, and by majority vote of the entire court the points will be settled. General belief is that all objections will be overruled. Then the managers will demand that Gov. Sulzer appear for trial and answer to the charges. They will also demand that his lawyers enter their restricted appearance in his behalf.

THE TRIAL OPENS WITH STATELY PROCEDURE.
The trial of the Governor was opened in the Senate Chamber at noon with the state procedures and solemn voice. The marble pillars and the vaulted arches at either end of the room, there sat the privileged 100 spectators—one-third of them women. They formed the background of a picture taking a place in history alongside with scenes of other great impeachments that have been painted both in brilliant words and on massive canvas.

The court crier, standing beside the Presiding Judge, called in a loud voice: "Hear ye! Hear ye! All persons having business before this Court of Impeachment will now draw near."

JUDGE CULLEN ANNOUNCES CONVENING OF COURT.
Then Judge Cullen arose, a picture of hair and moustache, and speaking in slow, measured tones that quavered with emotion, announced the convening of the court and its purpose.

"The procedure in order," said Judge Cullen, "is that the clerk shall administer to the presiding officer of the court the constitutional oath."

The clerk, Patrick McCabe, read from a paper the special form of oath while the venerable Judge stood with right hand raised high.

"You, Edgar M. Cullen, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, do solemnly swear to truly and impartially hear, try and determine the impeachment of the Assembly of the State of New York against William Sulzer, Governor of said State, on behalf of God."

There were two absences from the
